CONVENTION OF THE MUTUAL OFFICERS IS HELD

The mid-season convention of the Mutual Improvement Officers of the North Weber stake was held yesterday at the Third ward. The sessions were held at 10 a. m., and 2 p. m., and there was a large attendance at both meetings. Among the official visitors present were Edward H. Anderson, Rachael Grant Taylor and Clarissa Beesley of the general boards, John V. Bluth and Francis W. Stratford of the stake presidency and several members of the stake high council.

The morning session was taken up with a conjoint program. C. W. Wimmer spoke on the subject of "Boy Scout" work and Ruby Terry of "Campfire Girls." James M. Thomas gave an address on social activities and Joseph Williams spoke on the contest work for stake and general M. I. A. day. All of the talks covered the subjects spoken on in detail and many good suggestions for future work were received by the officers and teachers.

The afternoon was taken up with department work. In the young men's department able talks were given by Wells McIntyre, Ira Anderson, A. D. Brown, M. E. Wade and Frank A. Brinton. The subjects were "Vocations and Industries," "System in Fund and Era Canvass" and "Problems in Class Work."

In the young ladies' department, a model class was conducted by Clarissa Beesley and President Bluth spoke on the subject of "Respect for Authority." The officers of both associations reconvened at 3:30 p. m. and listened to brief addresses by the general board members and President Thomas of the Y. M. M. I. A. and President McFarland of the Young Ladies' association.

All the speakers expressed themselves as being well pleased and were hopeful that the addresses would improve the work among the young people.

AT THE ORPHEUM

The "gallery gods" had an inning last night when Gus Hill presented "Mutt and Jeff in Panama," at the Orpheum for their delectation and they vented their joy in a hilarious manner from the time the Bud Fisher models made their first appearance in a buggy drawn by an acrobatic horse, until the curtain went down on the closing ensemble. The travesty centers around the fate of a young army officer who places a woman before his sense of duty, loses an official report and then tries to find it. The comedy arises on account of Mutt and Jeff being drawn by accident into the plot, being blamed for the trouble and finally coming out on top, by identifying the villain who is at the bottom of it.

The play is in three acts and contains a large number of special solo and ensemble numbers. The songs, "If I had a Girl Like You" and "The Isle of Man" were especially appreciated and the "Grand National Finale," at the close of the second act, won several curtain calls. Edward West as Mutt and Henry Washer as Jeff, carried out their part of the program in a manner that was thoroughly satisfying and the audience, which almost filled the theatre, was kept in continuous laughter while the two were on the stage. The other members of the company were mediocre, the baritone having a voice with a "wave" in it that would have tipped a boat.

NEW CIRCUIT FOR

ORPHEUM THEATER

Owing to the fact that the Pantages vaudeville circuit has not played fair with the Orpheum theater of Ogden, in that instead of sending its regular bill to the local playhouse, it has substituted inferior acts in a number of instances, Manager Joseph Goss has decided to abrogate his contract with that company and put in its place the vaudeville of the Sullivan and Considine company. The contract with the Pantages will be concluded with the bill which plays Ogden next week when an entire week of vaudeville will be given, one-half being taken by the Pantages bill and the other half, by the Sullivan and Considine.

The Sullivan and Considine circuit is one of the best in the United States and has practically an unbroken route of all the important cities. In Salt Lake City it controls the Empress theater. The players will come direct to Ogden from Los Angeles, play here three days and then go on to Salt Lake City.

PROF. F. S. PATTISON ADDRESSES THE CLUB

Professor F. S. Pattison of the University of Utah addressed the Sunday Night club at the Guild hall of the Church of the Good Shepherd, last evening. His subject was "The Message of Tennyson" and it was treated with an understanding that delighted the large audience. He also read several of Tennyson's poems, each one being chosen with a purpose and read in a manner that brought out its full beauty of meaning. Among the most beautiful of Tennyson's poems, said the speaker, was one of the "Arthur" series, that conveyed the lesson of "reverence for women" in a most potent manner.

The next meeting of the club will be held in conjunction with the congregation of the First Congregational church in that church. It will be held next Sunday night.

MOTORCYCLE HITS

AN AUTOMOBILE

George Covey, residing in West Ogden, was slightly bruised about the legs at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the motorcycle he was riding skidded and crashed into an automobile driven by Hugh Woods. The accident occurred at Washington avenue and Twenty-fourth street.

Covey was accompanied by Chester Becraft, who was also riding a motorcycle. All three vehicles were moving north on the avenue and when Woods turned his auto west into Twenty-fourth street Covey was not so fortunate as Becraft, who dodged the machine.

Patrolman James Hearn arrested both of the motorcycle riders for speeding. After Covey's injuries had been given medical attention by City Physician Walter E. Whalen, he was removed to his home in an auto. Becraft furnished $10 bail for appearance in court.

FIRE STARTS IN

FIRST NATIONAL

A disastrous fire was averted in the First National bank building yesterday afternoon, by Attorney W. W. Harcombe. It started near the office of Architect Elmer Piers on the fifth floor of the building and had burned through the baseboard of the office before it was extinguished by the attorney, who had turned in the alarm and then beaten the fire department "to it."

The fire started from a wooden box cupboard, into which, it is thought, had been thrown a lighter cigar stub. According to the statement of Chief Canfield, it is the second one within a few weeks that has started in the same manner and the chief says that men should be more careful as to where they throw their cigar or cigarette stubs, as the practice of throwing them into inflammable material is a dangerous one.

THE WORLD'S

MARKET NEWS

WALL STREET.

New York, N. Y., Feb. 9.—After a brisk advance in the early session the market grew quiet today, but prices were well maintained. The steady absorption for investment account recently apparently reduced the floating supply of stocks, and shorts, who attempted to cover were forced to raise their bids.

London operators bought freely here, especially in steel. Buying of the coppers in spite of the fall in the metal prices abroad, was regarded as forecasting a strong monthly statement by the producers.

Forced liquidation of Rock Island securities carried them down abruptly to new low records, which checked the advance elsewhere.

Bonds were irregular.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 9.—Evidence that a fair amount of export business was in progress, tended today to lift the wheat market. There were complaints of the inferior quality of the Russian crop, and it was pointed out that the bulk of the Canadian surplus had been disposed of.

Return of mild weather in the United States winter wheat belt however, acted as a check on the advance. Opening prices, which were 1-3 to 1-4@3-8c higher, were followed by a dip, but then the market again showed a recovery.

Corn suffered from lack of demand. Selling pressure, though, was only moderate. Quotations started unchanged to 1-8@1-4c lower, and underwent a further sag.

In oats a little speculative buying kept prices comparatively steady. Some, but not all of the purchasers were shorts.

Higher prices for hogs gave firmness to provisions. Initial sales ranged from Saturday's level to 5c advance, with later transactions holding the gain.

Falling off in the visible wheat supply led to a decline in wheat prices, but the effect failed to last. The close was easy at a net advance of a shade.

Enlarged receipts caused additional weakness in corn. The close was heavy at a decline of 1-2 to 3-4c net.

WIFE MURDER IS CHARGED

Newark, N. J., Feb. 8.—Charles I. Manning was arrested shortly after midnight tonight on a charge of murder in connection with the death of his wife, Harriet, who was shot and killed by Hazel Herdman, who afterward ended her own life.

After an all day investigation, during which a score of witnesses were questioned, Chief Long returned to his office with the handsomely gowned women who have not heretofore figured in the case.

A young man, about 19 years old, supposed to be Harry Swayne, Manning's cousin, was brought in immediately afterward, and the three were questioned for several hours. The police would not permit any one of the three to talk after they emerged from the office, and they were whisked away in a police automobile.

Charge of Murder.

"We have preferred a charge of murder against Manning," said Chief Long. "He knew that Hazel Herdman killed his wife when we brought them in here Friday night a few hours after the shooting. He was with her all that night and the next morning up to a few moments before she killed herself."

"We have witnesses to prove that he knew it then, and that he lied to us in every statement he has made. Manning is one of the most polished liars I ever met, as well as one of the most remarkably heartless men. That is all we can tell you tonight."

Two funerals—the aftermath of the tragedy which cost two lives and wrecked two homes—will be held in Newark tomorrow.

One of them is a fashionable Newark church for a wife who was slain through another's love for her husband. The other in a dingy little mortuary chapel in Orange is for her slayer, the despairing mother who took two lives in a fruitless effort to smooth the path of her nameless child.

And the man, for love of whom they both died, will wait in a cell unable to honor the memory of either—the wife whose life he had wrecked, or the girl who wrecked hers for him.

HOW LOPEZ GOT

OUT OF BINGHAM

Bingham, Feb. 8.—Positive identification of a rifle found under the south end of the railroad trestle which spans Cottonwood gulch at its junction with Carr Fork canyon, as the weapon which Rafael Lopez took from Mike Stefano on the night of November 26, when Lopez went into the Utah-Apex mine, convinced peace officers and residents of Bingham that the bandit who shot to death six men almost within a week, successfully escaped.

The rifle was found under the trestle nearly a month ago by J. Hindbaugh, brakeman for the Bingham & Garfield. Close to the rifle the brakeman discovered a revolver holster and a belt nearly filled with rifle cartridges. He took his find to Salt Lake without making known its identity.

Returning to Bingham, he showed his home, yesterday Hindbaugh informed Chief Deputy Sheriff Will Struthers of his discovery.

By a journey to the cabin of Stefano, Deputy Sheriff Struthers established the identity of the rifle as the weapon which Lopez took from Stefano during his visit to the Stefano cabin prior to entering the mine to hide. Before Stefano was shown the rifle he described a file mark on the stock, which he declared he placed there many months ago as his private mark. This file mark was found on the stock of the rifle.

The rifle is a 30-30 Winchester, answering in every detail to the weapon which Lopez took from Stefano. In places it has small deposits of grayish mine mud, and it is very rusty. The ownership of the revolver holster and the cartridge belt was not established.

Hindbaugh declares that when he made the find the rifle appeared as if it had been there many days.

The condition of the weapon gives rise to the impression that Lopez left it to the mine soon after he shot to death J. Douglas Hulsey and Tom Manderich in the raise from the Andy tunnel beyond the hoist. Chief of Police S. S. Jones, who made an active search of the mine for the Lopez, admitted after learning of the identification of the rifle that he is now satisfied that Lopez did escape from the mine probably soon after he killed Hulsey and Manderich.

The theory is advanced that in escaping from the mine, doubtless during the night, Lopez walked down through Highland Boy, shielding his weapons under a long overcoat. Then he walked up on the railroad which crosses the trestle from a point immediately below the Utah-Apex mine, hid his weapons under the trestle and boarded an ore train for Garfield.

O. E. Radke, a Highland Boy blacksmith, and James Larson, a leaser, both acquainted with Lopez, reported that on the night after the killing of Hulsey and Manderich they observed a man walking down the canyon who in a general way answered the description of the bandit. Radke reported to the sheriff that when he approached the man the stranger backed away from him. He said the man had a heavy overcoat and appeared to have a limp characteristic of the walk of Lopez.

Larson also reported that farther down the canyon he saw the same man. When Larson approached to attempt to speak to him the stranger backed away. It had snowed that night and on the following morning tracks entering a building on the edge of Carr Fork canyon were discovered.

Reports at that time were being circulated that Lopez had been heard in the mine and the searches gave little credence to the stories told by Radke and Larson.

ORGANIZED BASEBALL

TO HAVE BUSY WEEK

New York, Feb. 8.—Beginning with the international league spring meeting at the Hotel Victoria tomorrow there will be some hot time in organized baseball circles this week.

On Tuesday at the Waldorf the national league goes into session after a meeting of the board of directors at 1 o'clock. On Wednesday the American league will sit in conference at the Baltimore. On Thursday there will be a joint meeting of the American, National and International leagues, with the majority of the club owners from the American association and the great majority of officials of the American association.

Chairman August Herrmann of the national commission reached town today. He would not show his hand. He declared very emphatically, however, that in his opinion the Federal league would never start. He intimated that a bomb would be exploded this week to wreck the last hope of the Federals.

"Tinker will be in Brooklyn at the start of the season," said Herrmann. "Ebbetts knew what he was talking about when he made the prediction. The Pittsburgh Federals have been able to raise practically no money from the sale of stock. Reports from Buffalo and Toronto are most encouraging to our cause. The only progressive towns in the Federal circuit are Chicago, St. Louis and Baltimore. Chicago's park on the north side is an ideal location and is bound to draw from the Cubs in a portion of the city, which is a big city in itself."

"St. Louis has a better location than either the Cardinals or Browns, but is tied up by a city ordinance that prevents the erection of wooden stands. They have not sufficient capital in the mound city to invest in a steel and concrete stadium. The same is true in Baltimore. Over there an effort is being made to amend a city ordinance so that 'concrete and wood' may be substituted for concrete and iron."

Inside Information.

Herrmann declared that the reports from Federal league sources had been exaggerated.

"Up to two weeks ago Weegmah had paid out only $2500 in advance money," said he. "He didn't give Tinker a nickel advance or bonus. Joe holds a check for $10,000 payable on January 1, 1915."
